Property Description

This lot of a little over 1/3 of an acre offers spectacular ocean views looking south towards the Osa Peninsula, as well as stunning views of the surrounding mountains where the up and coming Chontales community is nestled. The Chontales community has really become quite popular with expats looking for better prices and for a quieter getaway from the influx of development in places like Ojochal, Uvita and Dominical, which are popular beach towns to the north. Chontales is located off a well-maintained dirt road less than 10 minutes from the Costanera (Coastal) Highway. The nearby town of Ciudad Cortes offers many shops and services, including the area's regional public hospital. A little ways south are the towns of Palmar Norte, Palmar Sur and Sierpe, the latter being a popular tourist area with daily boat taxis to the famous area of Drake Bay. There is a small regional airport in Palmar Sur with regular flights from San Jose.
