Property Description

Enjoy the cool breezes and stunning ocean views from a top a mountain ridge. This property has multiple building areas. The main large building plantel sits on top of the ridge with stunning sunset ocean views all year round. It is big enough for a large estate with a guest house. An additional smaller site wraps around the base and is perfect for a pool. This farm is mostly for pasture with some gentle rolling hills, fruit trees and a year round creek that borders the back of the property. It has water and electricity, which means it's ready for the construction of your project to start! The mix of ocean and mountain views with road access make this property a great option. Whether you are looking to land bank or develop, properties like this are hard to find
