Property Description

The ocean view is almost due north, which along the Dominical coastline is a bit of an anomaly. The coastline here is diagonal, which puts the pacific ocean towards the southwest - generally. So much depends on the topography of the specific area you are talking about in this unique area of Costa Rica. With this property, the view is westerly, with a pinch of north thrown in as well, all of which adds up to very promising, year round sunsets, which have a way of penetrating down to the marrow of one's soul and convincing them that "right now" is rather important after all.Ok, so that deals with the ocean views, as well as the sunsets. Now, look inland and you'll see an amazing expanse of Costa Rica jungle, rivers, farmland, and one very gorgeous waterfall on the far ridge.The lot is located in Costa Verde, which is, in my humble estimation, simply the finest of the developments in the Domincal, Uvita, Ojochal zone.
