Property Description

Brand New Home built in the hills above Costa Ballena Costa Rica will delight your senses. Imagine overlooking the entire coastline at sunrise or sunset while nestled in the rain forest at 1800 feet. This home delivers exactly that! High above the community of Punta Mala / Ojochal you will arrive at this brand new home. It is about a 15 minute ride up, so for those seeking privacy, tranquility and your getaway home, it does get any better. The home is made of Panacor (cobitech) materials and engineering, with steel beams covered with teak wood. Teak wood is used throughout, which came from a local farm and is certified. High-end plumbing materials, thoughtful water management, granite counters and simply a lot of engineering went into designing this home for you. Three bedrooms, two baths, excellent main room with kitchen all look out over the big Pacific ocean. The yard is being left untouched for you to design a pool or whatever you heart desires.
