Property Description

This one is sold, but call Coldwell banker Pura Vida Paradise now for other options! This mountain home is located in a beautiful and quiet community consisting of expats and local Ticos. From the home you can see the Central Valley which lights up at night as well as the surrounding peaceful countryside. Located in a coffee growing area, at times during the year you can see the fragrant white coffee flowers and watch as they turn into coffee beans. Located about half way between San Jose and the Pacific Coast at about 3,300 feet in the mountains, you do not need air conditioning or heater. The temperature is perfect nearly all year round. Very few annoying insects to bother you while you sit on the covered patio enjoying the daytime vistas and nighttime views. Or, if you prefer, sit inside the living area and look out through the floor to ceiling windows at the beautiful plants and trees.
