Property Description

Welcome to Casa Surf in Avellanas. Casa Surf was, for many years, a simple hostel. The owner has moved down surf to chase different waves. One of his best friends is living here and taking care of the place until sale. Getting permits to once again allowing this to become an income earner will be easy as the bureaucratic authorities have all the pertinent information about the property. The In's and Out's. Casa surf has four simple bedrooms and three simple baths. A few of them are furnished with bunk beds and the others are furnished as private suites with beds and baths. There is a large laundry room just behind the reception area which today includes a kitchen, bar, large sitting area, and tables. This is the second use of the hostel which could obviously be converted into a private residence. At the rear of the construction is the master bedroom area and a communal outdoor kitchen and sitting area.
