Property Description

Have you been searching for a way to live more in harmony with nature while earning an income? This Ojochal eco-lodge for sale may be the Costa Rica property for you. This is a truly paradisiacal property that boasts peaceful living amidst pristine, tropical nature. Three independent lodges have been crafted entirely out of local hardwoods with beautiful stone and granite accents, giving them a modern yet rustic appeal. These are not rickety old log cabins. These are state-of-the-art indulgent residences for those seeking a tranquil getaway amongst rivers, old-growth trees, a lagoon, and a treasure of diverse wildlife. The property features a large, resort-like swimming pool with a palm-thatched gazebo next door and plenty of loungers, both in and out of the shade. The landscaped gardens that surround the pool and rental home complex are filled with native, flowering plants – both edible and ornamental varieties – that bring a host of birds, butterflies, and joy to the day.
