Property Description

Imagine living in a luxury home by scenic and secluded Playa Matapalo. Located in a tranquil beach community in Quepos, Costa Rica, this 5.6-acre property features stunning ocean views facing Manuel Antonio National Park. Playa Matapalo is known for its beautiful beaches and overflowing jungles so you're likely to spot monkeys, sloths, and toucans in your own rainforest. This luxury home is perfect for a secluded retreat or as a vacation rental. This 2000-sq-foot home sits on the mountain bluff, allowing you to feel cool breezes in the home all day. However, that is just one of the added perks of this home. It also features floor-to-ceiling windows, which regulates the temperature and allows you to see the stunning ocean views from every room in the house. The open floor plan of the kitchen and the living room includes vaulted ceilings, lots of windows, and high-quality wood finishings.
