Property Description

Nestled in the lush landscapes of Cajón, Pérez Zeledón, Costa Rica, Finca Montebox is a 15-hectare family-owned coffee estate that embodies nearly two centuries of dedication to coffee cultivation. This historic farm, rooted in the legacy of the Montealegre family, combines tradition, innovation, and sustainability to produce exceptional coffee while preserving the natural environment. The Montealegre family's coffee journey began in the 1830s with Don Mariano Montealegre Bustamante, a visionary pioneer known as "The Coffee King" for his role in establishing coffee as a cornerstone of Costa Rica's economy. Nearly 200 years later, the family continues this legacy through Finca Montebox, a farm that integrates sustainable practices with cutting-edge coffee production. Property Details: Finca Montebox spans approximately 15 hectares and is divided into distinct areas that support diverse agricultural and conservation efforts: 1.
