Property Description

Located only 20 minutes (7km) from the paved Coastal Highway, this elevated retreat overlooks Ojochal and the Pacific Coast. You can be close to the amenities of this international expat hub, but high enough above it to feel completely and delightfully isolated. The air up here is fresh and pure, with no dust or traffic noise, and the best quality climate for a healing lifestyle. The estate includes many natural features including an exquisite concrete block construction, a double roof system with a clay tile finish and beautifully detailed handcrafted solid-wood furniture throughout. This home and the furniture that comes with it are built to last. It is filled with quality details like granite countertops, high ceilings, and picture windows, which face the best views and capture the mountain breezes. The considerable master bedroom is furnished with an ornate, king-sized, four post bed that perfectly captures the sunrise over the Talamanca mountains.
